HUNT FARMHAND IN NORTH LIMA'S TRIPLE SLAYING

Police of Three States
With Employer's Car

FARMER, WIFE AND FATHER ARE SLAIN

Former Is Shot to Death; Latter Stabbed and Beaten

Officers of three states searched today for a 21-year-old farmhand, Norman Smith, in an effort to solve the slaying of two men and a woman on their farm located near North Lima, on the North Lima-Pine lake road.

Henry Baumeister, 37, and his 42-year-old wife were found dead and Baumeister's father, Theodore, 70, fatally wounded late yesterday. Coroner David H. Hauser of Mahoning county said a post mortem examination disclosed the younger Baumeister was killed by a shotgun blast while the others were savagely hacked and beaten to death.

Drove Away From Home

The farmhand, Sheriff Ralph E. Elser said, was seen driving from the scene in Henry Baumeister's automobile at 3 p. m., an hour before H. H. Holt, of Salem st., Columbiana, a food products salesman, discovered Henry Baumeister's body on the kitchen floor.

The salesman hastened to a nearby farm after the gruesome discovery. Henry Crumbacher, an uncle of Henry Baumeister, living across the road, was unaware of the tragedy.

Neighbors found the elder Baumeister at the point of death in the barn and the body of his daughter-in-law covered by hay. The man died enroute to Youngstown South Side hospital without regaining consciousness.

Elser broadcast to Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia authorities descriptions of the youth, former Pennsylvanian, and the automobile. He had worked for the Baumeisters for the past four weeks.

The coroner said the older man and the woman had been beaten on the head possibly with the shotgun, then cut and stabbed with a hunking knife.

Quarrelled Over Wages

Elser said Henry Baumeister was killed by a shotgun charge fired through the kitchen window, then beaten about the head. The gun, its stock shattered, was found in the farmyard.

The missing farmhand, Elser said, changed his clothes and tossed his working clothes in a heap on the farmhouse living room floor.

Sheriff's deputies quoted neighbors as saying the youth and Theodore Baumeister had quarrelled over wages recently.

The victims' bodies were removed late last night to the Fry funeral home at Columbiana, to await the arrival of relatives from Wheeling, W. Va.

Coroner Hauser, at an inquest last evening, said he believed that Theodore Baumeister and his daughter-in-law were shot first and that, either intentionally or perhaps in a struggle with the assailant, their bodies became partially covered with the corn husks.

PROPERTY TAXES TOTAL $1,662,051

Increase of $150,585 Over 1936 Figures Is Announced

LISBON, Jan. 5.—General property tax collections during 1937 totaled $1,662,051.41—an increase of $150,585.81 over payments made in 1936. County Treasurer Olen Dawson reported Tuesday.

With the addition of $248,834.13 collected in personal taxes during 1937 the aggregate reaches $1,010,885.54 for the past year.

Substantial increases in payments from each of the county's subdivisions were reported. Personal tax collections for the last half amounted to $122,192.35. During the forepart of 1937 collections in the same division totaled $126,641.78. Although real estate collections were considerably in excess of the preceding year, Dawson states the differential would have been still more impressive but for the operation of the Whittemore Act.

Extend Payments
Under the provisions of this act, which expired Dec. 10, a total of 875 of the 1,200 county residents holding six-year payment plans extended payments on their delinquencies over a ten-year period. In many of these instances the final payment representing half the delinquency would have been due under the six-year plan.

Real estate tax payments made since Dawson took over the office in September exceeded collections for the corresponding period in 1936 by approximately $75,000. The total fall payments on real estate reached $835,376.89 with an additional $25,142.06 in special assessments plus $122,192.35 in personal taxes.

East Liverpool tax payers contributed $270,171.84 in real estate payments in the settlement the treasurer expects to make shortly. They added $12,755.09 in special assessments. Salem ranked next with $12,755.09.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 5.—The National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery's economic drive against Japan was spurred here today by the declaration of Joseph M. Wells, chairman of the labor committee of United States Pottery's association, that it has increased the domestic ceramic trade.

Eleven other persons not yet accepted have applied for relief.

ROOSEVELT IS NOTIFIED HE'LL RETIRE JAN. 18

Advanced Age — 76 In March—Given as Cause
For His Action

LEAVES ONLY TWO "CONSERVATIVES"

Vacancy to Give President
Second Court Appointment

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Associate Justice George Sutherland notified President Roosevelt today that he would retire from his position on the supreme court Jan. 18.

His advanced age—he will be 76 years old in March—was given by friends as the chief reason for his quitting the bench. Since he is leaving under provisions of the supreme court retirement act, he probably will continue, however, to do some work in the lower courts.

Second Resignation

The resignation is the second since President Roosevelt, less than a year ago, proposed to reorganize the supreme court by enlarging it from nine to 15 members, if those over 70 did not retire. On last June 2, Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter retired at the age of 78.

To succeed Van Devanter, President Roosevelt appointed Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama Democrat. Black was the center of a brief hot controversy over his former affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan. After he took his place on the bench, efforts were made unsuccessfully to unseat him.

Thus Sutherland's resignation will give President Roosevelt his second opportunity to name a member of the high court.

When Sutherland steps down only two members will remain on the tribunal who generally are referred to by administration spokesmen as conservative. They are McReynolds, 75, and Butler 71.

This situation was responsible for most of the quickly expressed reaction on Capitol Hill. Senator Wheeler (Continued on Page 8)

Mrs. Robert Hill Dies In Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Carrie Brockman Hill, 86, wife of Robert E. Hill, died shortly after midnight at her home here from the effects of injuries sustained in a fall Sept. 27 when her right hip was broken.

Mrs. Hill was organizer of Crystal chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and the chapter's first worthy matron. She eventually became district deputy of the organization and in such capacity made frequent visits to Salem. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist church.

Besides her husband she leaves a son, Frank M. Hill, of Lima. Funeral arrangements had not been announced today.

Dr. Hartford's Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow

EAST PALESTINE, Jan. 5.—Members of the Columbiana County Medical society and residents of East Palestine and vicinity will pay tribute Thursday to Dr. Peter C. Hartford, 75, when the funeral service for the physician will be held at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Hartford, who had been practicing in East Palestine and Columbiana county for more than 50 years, died early Monday morning at the home of his brother, Samuel, near Boston.

A member of one of Beaver county, Pennsylvania's pioneer families, Dr. Hartford started practice in 1887 in nearby Negley. He moved to East Palestine nine years later and had carried on his practice here since then.

He was chief of staff of the Salem City hospital, vice president and director of a local bank and a stockholder in several local and district industries at the time of his death.

Rev. D. Porter Williams, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will officiate at the funeral rites.

Vice President

Paul (Judy) Myers, former Third ward councilman, was elected clerk of city council when the legislators held their first meeting of the new year Tuesday night.

Myers, who was sworn in by Mayor George R. Harroff, was elected over Thirl A. Eckstein, who has been clerk for eight years.

The new clerk, a Republican, was defeated at the polls Nov. 2 in his fight to retain the Third ward council seat by Charles Renkenberger, Democrat and a newcomer to local political circles.

Vote is 6 to 1

Eckstein was nominated by Councilman Charles Rheaugh, while Myers' name was brought to the floor by Councilman Emmor H. Taylor. In the balloting Myers polled six votes and Eckstein one.

First Ward Councilman C. F. Zimmerman was re-elected vice president of council.

Little business was transacted by council last night after President of Council Charles Cornwall announced his standing committee appointments for the ensuing year.

The committees, with the first councilman in each group serving as chairman, include: Appropriation and finance: A. P. Morris, Emmor H. Taylor and C. F. Zimmerman.

Claims: Fred Koenreich, Charles Rheaugh and Zimmerman. Ordinances: Fred S. Smith, Koenreich and Rheaugh.

PROMISES TO CUT FEDERAL EXPENDITURE

But Leaves Treasury Door Open To Possibility of Spending For Relief and Arms

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt sent congress a budget message today which projected new billion-dollar treasury deficits and a new public debt peak despite estimates of lesser spending.

His forecast for the 1939 fiscal year contemplated a $539,000,000 cut in government outlays—"the most important fact of this budget," Mr. Roosevelt said—but conditioned the reduction on an upturn in business and national defense requirements.

The President's big volume of budget figures estimated a net deficit of $1,088,129,600 for the current fiscal year and $949,606,000 for the next 12 months which he noted would be successive declines. The public debt, he said, would reach a $38,528,200,000 high on June 30, 1939.

LEAVES TREASURY DOORS OPEN

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt left the treasury's doors ajar to the possibility of more spending for human relief and for armaments "due to world conditions over which this nation has no control."

The continued deficit was attributed to a sharp drop in expected revenue because of the business recession. President Roosevelt acknowledged that for the first time since he became chief executive he faced less, rather than more, governmental income.

To obtain next year's estimated spending slash of $539,000,000, the President cut his estimates for relief and recovery to $1,138,304,000—down $841,356,600 from this year's figures. But he added:

"The economic situation may not improve and if it does not, I expect the approval of congress and the public for additional appropriations if they become necessary to save thousands of American families from dire need."

Nevertheless, for the first time in three years the President presented a complete budget, including relief estimates which previously had been left until later. He did so, apparently, on the basis of a treasury forecast that business would improve.

HOPES FOR BETTER BUSINESS

"We hope," he said, "that the calendar year 1938 will bring an improvement in business conditions and, therefore, in tax receipts. The treasury, leaning to the conservative side, predicts some improvement over the present level but does not assume in its figures that business in the calendar year 1938 will reach as high a level as in the calendar year 1937."

Mr. Roosevelt asked an increase of $34,300,000 to bring national defense spending up to a record level of $991,300,000 in 1939. His message mentioned a $54,847,000 boost in regular defense funds, but part of this difference was offset by allocation of less emergency money for defense next year than in the current period.

Not only did the President abandon his hope for a balanced budget next year, but dwindling revenue forced a jump in the net deficit expected for the year ending June 30, from October's estimate of $695,000,000 to $1,088,129,600. This increase included no new funds for relief spending which Mr. Roosevelt conceded might be necessary during the winter.

Estimate Reflects Slump
Seriousness of the revenue slump was reflected by the estimate that this year's receipts would total $6,320,513,000. A year ago, when the President forecast a "fiscally balanced" for this year's budget, he estimated revenue at almost a billion higher—$7,293,000,000.

The President made no effort to conceal his disappointment over tax

The county organization will hold its annual meeting here next Monday, electing officers for 1938. Tom Armstrong of East Liverpool is president of the association and C. J. Locke, Salsville, secretary-treasurer.

Beloit Man Fined In Court at Lisbon

LISBON, Jan. 5.—W. H. Burbick, Beloit R. D. 3, was fined $75 and costs Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Jones on a charge of carrying concealed weapons following a plea of guilty.

Burbick, bound over to the grand jury by Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimmerman, was reported to have appeared at a Knox township home the latter part of December carrying a loaded revolver. Members of the household disarmed him and brought him to Lisbon.

The defendant, according to members of the family, demanded that a daughter accompany him to his home. Judge Jones ordered Burbick committed to the county jail until fine and costs were paid.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

On the Ship of State the helm swings free but the rudder isn't responding, the boilers burn coal but develop no steam, the wheels are churning but there is no momentum, the indicator is at full speed ahead but there is no progress. The good old vessel is becalmed.

These things Helmsman Roosevelt has reported. The tone of his voice and shading of his words are oil on troubled waters. They are not the tone and words of previous reports or previous orders, not the rasping tone or jumble of words shouted by Ensign Ickes and Midshipman Jackson last week.

Helmsman Roosevelt, reasoning with his congressional crew, wants more of the same kind of coal-business control, crop restriction, labor wage-and-hour laws, taxes—shoveled under the boilers. He has the bow of the ship pointed as before, unchanged in direction toward social reform.

He appears unimpressed with the viewpoint that we may be running low on fuel. He gives no indication that the ship's becalmed circumstances may be due to a fracture or fractures in the machinery of government or that this machinery could be made to function better if overhauled.

In foreign relations he believes we have kept our heads, that we can continue to do so, and that more arms, a stronger navy and better defense organization will convince war-intent nations that they should let us keep our heads.

The president drew a line of distinction between bad big business and good little business. He suggested that maybe it would be possible to give some tax relief to the latter. He left no room for doubt however, that no tax reductions should reflect a loss in total government revenues.

Mr. Roosevelt gave his first indication that there has been misrepresentation by labor of the policy of the government and asserted that "power and responsibility must go hand in hand." Whether he meant by this that a revision of the Wagner act would be pressed by the administration is an inference that will be watched with great interest.

Summed up, the message puts all of the nation's problems in the lap of congress and the probabilities are that they will be a long time in solution.

FIRST LADY IN FACT

It is no reflected glory of her husband's position which wins for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt an overwhelming majority in a poll conducted by a big radio system to select the outstanding woman of 1937.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the foremost individualist among all the first ladies who have occupied the White House. Some of her predecessors were reputed in their own times to have been the power behind the presidential chair and to have exercised an important influence in this manner but Mrs. Roosevelt has not hidden her personality behind that of her husband.

Instead she has lived her own life with a freedom that smashed precedent, traveling widely as she willed, speaking her own mind on every occasion and engaging in activities so diversified that they are a little staggering.

Her gracious personality has won admirers everywhere, her spirit of freedom and lack of formality has been inspiring and most of her public utterances have been marked with sound good sense.

A disregard of conventionalities with which tradition has surrounded the president's wife startled the country somewhat during the early part of the Roosevelt administration. These things are now accepted as the expression of an individualistic spirit.

Mrs. Roosevelt does things on her own account and it is because she is herself and not because she is the wife of the president that radio listeners have voted her the outstanding woman of the year.

PANAY AFTERMATH

Excellent newsreel films on the bombing of the U. S. S. Panay by Japan's war birds provide something more than a fine record of a dangerous oriental incident. These stirring pictures demonstrate the fury of Nippon's campaign in China and the difficulty western nations will experience in attempts to carry the white man's burden in the east from now on.

Despite the effort to dramatize the film account by commentators who furnish the sound effects, there is no "Remember the Maine!" spirit in evidence among audiences. Coming as they did after the state department closed the incident, the films have lost their propaganda value and emerge rather in their proper status as interesting pictorial history.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—George du Maurier called them "parasites of men of genius." And New York has a flock of such fungi. Usually they are fellows of rare charm and anecdote and make a good fourth at bridge or acceptable dinner partners for the feminine bores.

They winnow their way through flattering their patron saints. It is undeniable that genius, of all the homo-genus, is most susceptible to flattery. Any number, from the calculating industrialist to the reigning author, are pushovers for the art of being sponged upon.

James McNeill Whistler had a sort of stooge upon whom he tried out many witty remarks before ventilating them in the salons. Finley Peter Dunne was left a half million by the publisher Collier, because his sharp observations so amused him. However, Dunne was not a parasite.

Among the most famous "parasites" was, of course, the foppish Harry Lehr. Even today the social leaders, men and women, have their Harry Lehrs who arrange their parties and act as masters of ceremony. Such barnacles ride life top-gallant so long as they continue to amuse.

My idea of torture for a starving castaway on the deserted island would be to toss him one of those yard-long menus such as they hand customers at Luchow's or Jaeger's with entries like these: Noodle soup, fresh pig knuckles with sauer kraut and mashed potatoes, hasenpeffer with kartoffel kloeese, pan fried tenderloin slices, stewed kidneys with bread dumplings, saurbraten with apple rings, Westphalian ham with cold asparagus tips and cottage cheese, chantilly cream cake, apple strudel, Menster cheese with pumpernickel—but why go on breaking hearts?

Restaurants, with a notable exception or so, have not had success popularizing dishes named for celebrities. Reuben named a number of top-heavy sandwiches for columnists and actors, but they had few takers. Among enduring dishes so named are Peach Melba and Toast Melba and Canteloupe Lillian Russell, which was Miss Russell's favorite way of serving it—well chilled with a scoop of ice cream. Peach Melba was concocted when the doctor ordered more sweets for the singer to plump her up and the thin toast antithesis resulted when she was trying desperately to reduce. In England two menu names have survived for many years. Both cheese makers—Stilton and Cheddar.

The "Go West" dictum has left woe in the ranks of theatrical agents on the Rialto. Many used to make from $20,000 and Max Hart made $100,000 a year. Today the agency business is almost entirely in Hollywood. The amateur business has also put a crimp in agency incomes. Most amateurs are hired direct.

Also the master of ceremony seems to be taking a final bow. Many extemporary exploiters of the apt and shining mot have had no trouble migrating from cafe to cafe around the country until heckling also became something of an art. Those, such as Joe Lewis, Jack White and Henry Youngman, who could handle ripples from the side lines, could find a job, but those who were worsted soon found themselves at liberty. As a rule the unfortunates lost their tempers and indulged personalities. That's no go with paying customers.

When Frank Craven hit town recently after a long isolation in California he zoomed a bee line for Billy the Oysterman, tucked in his napkin and had oysters on the half-shell, then oysters fried and wound up with a steaming bowl of oyster stew. John Golden who watched the devouring from another table finally sent over a half dozen succulent Lynnhavens with this note: "Perhaps you would care to rub these in what you have left of hair?"

Most writers ache to achieve the clarity, meaning and brevity of a young Englishman in Shanghai recently. When bombs began dropping along the Bund, he decided to stick instead of evacuating to Hong Kong. Shortly he received a cable from his folk back home: "Anxious concerning your safety!" He replied: "So am I!" There's a story in a nutshell. He was all right so far; he wasn't sure he was not going to be blown to pieces next day but he was standing by his guns. And he hadn't lost his sense of humor. You don't often get so much meaning in three little words.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, January 6

This should be a very active day, with the mind keyed to high levels of achievement, according to the lunar and mutual planetary aspects. Work of a public nature, such as promotion, advertising, publicity or other progressive efforts, born of a highly-stimulated mentality, should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively, progressive and prosperous year, with the mind pitched to highly-constructive work, probably in a public way, through publicity, advertising, promotion or some well-organized commercial pursuit. It is a time for enterprise but not for dubious gambles.

A child born on this day may have much versatility and talent, with a keen, shrewd and penetrating insight and fine organizing ability. However, it should be directed into lines of restraint and a degree of conservatism, as its "tempo" may carry it into dangerous ways, through gambling and speculative instincts.

CATARRHAL FEVER

"Catarrhal fever" is a name suggested by physicians for that malady usually known as "cold in the head." It is a common disorder and is almost universal at this time of the year.

Only recently I pointed out to you the many dangers of neglecting influenza, colds and grippe. Let me speak again about the importance of the immediate care of these disorders, which are similar in many ways, and are widespread in their attacks on the human family.

Despite the tremendous advances made in the study of germs, in many diseases the actual cause or germ has not as yet been discovered. This is true of catarrhal fever. Undoubtedly, many factors contribute to the development of this disorder. This statement is confirmed by lack of uniformity in its performance.

There is no denying the importance of keeping the body as healthy as possible at all times. It is known that once the body has a lowering of its resistance against germs, catarrhal fever occurs. In addition, exposure to cold, with sudden chilling, is a common forerunner of an infection of the upper air passages. Fatigue, excessive exercise, immoderate indulgence in alcohol, the lack of vitamins in the diet and chronic nasal sinusitis are factors that must not be overlooked.

Spreads Rapidly

Catarrhal fever is usually prevalent in places where many persons congregate. It is rapidly spread among people who attend churches, schools, theaters and other indoor meeting places. In times of severe epidemics it is well that such gatherings be avoided.

The victim of "cold in the head" usually complains of chilliness, aches and pain all over the body, headache and loss of taste and smell. "The eyes run, fever is present, and the patient complains of excessive weakness. Cough and sweating may be present. The severity of any of these symptoms determines the extent of the infection.

As I have indicated, it is best from the health standpoint that care be taken to avoid crowded meeting places during seasons when catarrhal fever is prevalent. Avoid excessive fatigue and chilling of the body, exposure to rain or sleet, or any other factor which will lower the resistance of the body.

Answers to Health Queries

J. J. Q.—When I was small I had a habit of eating dirt or earth. I stopped after a time but about a month ago I started in again. I like the taste of it and have been told that I crave it because my body needs some substance in the earth. Is it harmful to my health? What would you advise?

A.—Such a habit should be stopped. Make sure that your diet is well balanced and nourishing. Improve your general state of health and resistance. For further particulars, send a self-addressed and stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Miss M. M. S. Q.—I am a young girl of 17, underweight. I weigh not quite 100 pounds. How can I put on weight? 2: I also have convulsions at times one or two a day but they do not last very long. The attacks come off and on, they are not constant. What treatment will tend to overcome the trouble?

A.—Make every effort to improve your general state of health and resistance. The diet is important. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. 2: Have an examination to determine the underlying cause of the trouble. Improve your general condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

No One Ever Kissed Her Good Night

Bad breath is death to romance. And bad breath is frequently caused by constipation. Just as headaches, sleeplessness, weakness can be produced by it, or most skin blemishes aggravated by it!

Dr. F. M. Edwards, during his years of practice, treated hundreds of women for constipation and frequently noted that relief sweetened the breath and improved well-being and vitality. For his treatment he used a purely vegetable compound—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This laxative is gentle, yet peculiarly effective because it increases the bile flow without shocking the intestinal system.

Help guard against constipation. Use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. At all druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

SYNOPSIS

When Julie Allerdice, 19-year-old daughter of Professor Allerdice of the Ramsey Preparatory School for Boys, manages to get herself engaged to Dr. Richard Jessup, Fayette's most eligible bachelor, she looks forward to a glamorous future as a married woman. Of course, most people in town had thought Dick would marry Millie Dood who is 33 while he is 38, but Millie hides her disappointment and gives an engagement party for Julie. Less tactful is Tommy Jessup, Dick's younger brother. He is still in college, and has always loved Julie. He tells her she will be sorry if she spoils four lives by marrying Dick. Julie tells Tommy to mind his business, but in less than six weeks she begins to find being engaged is boring. It is then she remembers the words of Pete Waddell, barnstorming aviator who gives flying lessons at a neighboring field. He had told her there was a great future in flying for a beautiful girl. When Pete telephones to ask her to go up for a trial flight, she accepts his invitation.

CHAPTER VIII

Julie forgot to be frightened but she did not feel that exhilaration that she had expected. She tired of looking out and turned her attention to Waddell. She couldn't talk to him about the hammer of the engine. She watched him, watched the easy manipulation of the controls and she thought: "Easy. I could do it."

Instantly a new idea came to her. An idea that had been latent since the first night she met Pete Waddell. That silver screen in her mind flashed breath taking pictures. Pictures of a girl flyer with fame and fortune heaped upon her.

She was impatient then for them to land, she wanted to talk to him. They were descending. She closed her eyes as the earth rode up to meet them and they bumped along the surface of the earth. They made a quick turn of the field and came to a smooth stop.

Waddell pulled off his gloves and held out his hand to help Julie out. She clutched at his sleeve.

"How'd you like it?" He grinned. Julie went right to the point. "How much to teach me to fly, Pete?" she asked.

"A hundred for twenty lessons to 'A' when do we start?"

"I don't know. I haven't got a hundred and I don't know where I could get it, but if I believed that what you said..."

Pete Waddell read her thoughts: "Baby, you'd have the world at your feet if you're as smart as I think you are."

"Then I'll get it—somehow."

"Julie! Julie! Julie!"

Julie kicked herself free of her unwound bolt of bias-binding and got up, dropping her sewing, shears and thimble. She ran to the window.

It was one of the Penny twins. He was bent over the gravel path, finding pebbles to throw at her.

"Where's your guitar? Didn't you know there was a bell on the front door?"

"Hi, there! This is no serenade, gal! Get into your tennis shoes and make it snappy! We're going over to the Lynches to shoot some doubles."

Julie played with the tempting idea for the space of a minute. Then she sighed. "Can't do it, Ben. I'm a working girl now. Try Althea."

He was halfway to the gate when she called him back.

"Oh, Ben! How would you like to subscribe to the magazine Our Times? You wouldn't have to read it, it's got lots of pictures! Comes to your house every week! All you have to do is make out one little bitty check for five dollars."

"You mean you will?" That would mean another fifty cents in the Mexican pottery pig.

"What's the idea?"

"I'm trying to put my grandmother through college."

"You raise the money and I'll give her pointers on how to get through in one week."

Julie sighed. In one week she had exhausted her list of possible subscribers and sold only four subscriptions. "Pin money, is right!" she muttered, and picked up the half-finished blue linen she had dropped on the floor.

She wound the binding into a tight little ball and flung it across the room. Her finger encountered the point of a forgotten needle and she thrust it into her mouth, sucking it angrily.

The green door on the back porch banged was followed by the clatter that announced Priscilla's return from school.

Julie needed no clock to tell her that it was nearing four o'clock. She sighed again. Peggy Clark said she would come by at five o'clock to try on her linen frock.

Julie retrieved the binding, cut off a length and pinned it around her neck. She threaded it around the neckline and ran a line of fine stitches along the path of the pins.

After a few minutes the darkness went out of her face, leaving her mouth smiling sweetly.

Mechanically her needle plied in and out, followed long habit while that part of her mind which guided it divorced itself from her. The sewing-room with the machine, the pressing-table and Jenny, the dress-maker's dummy receded from her vision.

She saw a flying field. Roosevelt Field. It was black with a milling mob struggling to get past police lines. There were microphones, reporters. A slight figure of a girl being helped out of a silver plane. A laughing, triumphant girl.

"Won't you say a few words into the microphone, Miss Allerdice?"

"Look, Miss Allerdice, my paper would like an exclusive interview."

Laughing, charming, gracious, "Please, boys! Later! I must get into some fresh clothes, have my hair done. . . . The Ritz, at five. I'll be glad to tell you anything you want to know."

The Ritz at five. The girl in a velvet tea-gown. Remarkable how fresh she looks after that grueling test. She's the first woman to . . .

"It was really nothing. The flight was easier than . . . well, learning to fly. I don't mean that it was hard for me to learn. I've always loved flying from the time I was a child. Longed for it . . . the escape . . . the beauty of it!"

"Then what was hard, Miss Allerdice?"

"Getting the money for a flying course."

"Then you weren't a debutante as the papers said?"

"On, no! I had to earn the money. I did all sorts of ridiculous things. I sold subscriptions to magazines, made clothes for my friends, was a newspaper reporter. It was hard but it was worth it."

Julie snipped her thread, shook herself free of thread ends and ran down-stairs to the telephone. The Girl's Friendly Society meeting ought to be over and that would be another item to add to the others she had collected during the week for the Blade.

"How about the committee names? . . . wait a minute. Could we get in anything about the refreshments?" Get every line you can. There's something else I wanted to ask you, Mrs. Jones, wasn't Mr. Jones' mother visiting you last week? Oh, that doesn't matter. . . . No, just as long as she was visiting you."

She wrote: Mr. and Mrs. Hardwell Jones have been entertaining Mrs. Robert E. Jones of Bedford Falls. Then she scratched it out wondering now she could add more words. She tried again: Mrs. Robert E. Jones of Bedford Falls has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hardwell Jones at their beautiful new home on Lindbergh Road . . . Every word counts when you're paid space rates.

The term "space rates" wasn't quite clear in Julie's mind. But with the pages and pages of personal she had collected to turn in to the editor next morning, the rates would probably run to fifty or seventy-five dollars, she thought in the depths of her journalistic ignorance.

She went back to the sewing-room, plugged the electric iron into a socket and while it heated, she shook the Mexican pottery pig vigorously. How much did she have?

She wished she had it known. There were the four fifty-cent pieces deducted from the money-order she sent the magazine. There were the three one dollar bills she'd got for making Althea a green or-gandie like her orange one Darn Althea! She would take advantage of Julie's need to insist on that same pattern. There was a five dollar bill. Well, she certainly had not overcharged Eleanor for making a white tweed coat. There was another dollar and three quarters for the baby dress and pique collars she'd made for Mrs. Dixon. Now, with Peggy's two dollars for the sleeveless linen, she'd have nearly fourteen. Her allowance was fifteen a month—to cover cost of her clothes, entertainment and travel—and with the money she would undoubtedly get from the newspaper, she'd have the better part of her hundred.

This tunic frock of rough crepe has an edging of Lyons silk velvet.

Pleats feature this charming dress in butter beige or golden brown crepe, piped with gold kid.

... Forecasting the MODE for SPRING

★ TUNIC GOOD CHOICE NOW, AND LIKELY TO BE IMPORTANT FEATURE IN MAY

By MARIE MAROT

THE tunic is back again, that is, if it really ever did leave the fashion field entirely. For right along we have seen smart women wearing their own versions of the tunic frock, even if the style hasn't been universal of late. But here it is again in the mid-season collections, and there is every indication that it will be an important feature of the spring mode. Tunic frocks and tunic suits are promised for Easter. Right now, the tunic frock, sketched at left, is a good choice under the fur coat. The rough crepe molds into the sleek lines of the smartly-fitted tunic and ripples gracefully into the skirt. The edging of Lyons silk velvet adds a softly decorative touch. Pleats, too, will be prominent in the spring sartorial scheme. Sketched right is a charming dress to be worn now and later on. It is in butter beige or golden brown crepe, discreetly piped with gold kid. The line, with softly-gathered bodice and flaring, fan-pleated skirt, is young and charming.

House Refuses To Halt Graft Hunters

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—The Ohio senate's graft-hunting expedition plowed on today, encouraged by refusal of the house of representatives to interfere with the inquiry.
The special investigating committee called in Alfred Humphrey, chief of the enforcement division in the liquor department, after receiving testimony that eight highway department employees drew pay from the state while working two to six weeks in Franklin county Democratic headquarters.
Despite the urging of Gov. Martin L. Davey, who declared "anyone would be supremely stupid" to think that the senate investigation "would be fair or honest," the house defeated his proposal to repeal it with another inquiry.

Donahy Won't Run

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senator Donahy (D., Ohio), admitted today that he had been asked to run for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio in the state primaries next August but asserted he was "not now thinking of doing so." He said he expected to remain in the senate until his term expires in 1940.

Loses His Voice

PITTSBURGH — Sam Milliken has lost his voice.
He appealed to anyone finding the strange appliance manufactured especially for Sam to help him speak, to return it.
If he doesn't get it back, he'll have to go to Toledo for two weeks to have a new one made.

Grand Jurors Dig Into White Records

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—The grand jury investigating alleged irregularities in the state parole system was expected today to dig deeper into the pardons granted criminals by former Gov. George White.

Assistant Atty Gen. George Hurler said that a subpoena would be issued for Atty S. P. Dunkle, who was White's executive secretary and adviser on clemency matters.

It was White who commuted the sentence of Roy (Happy) Marino, Youngstown bank robber, releasing him from prison after he had served 14 months of a 20-year term.

receipts. He told congress the outlook had been changed by the "recent recession in business."

The chief executive not only sliced almost a billion off the original revenue estimates for this year, but said next year's would drop still further—to $5,919,437,000. That however, would be the biggest peace-time revenue in history except for this year's.

Other important features of the budget message, which as usual was read to the two houses of congress separately by their clerks, included:

A recommendation that congress, either by legislation or a constitutional amendment, provide the chief executive with authority to veto individual items in an appropriation bill without returning the entire measure.

A renewed recommendation that congress enact "at an early date such amendments to the revenue law as will maintain the revenue producing power of the present tax structure while correcting at the same time existing proven inequities."

Would Cut Public Spending
Proposals to curtail spending on major public works projects such as highways, river and harbor improvements, flood control, public buildings and reclamation projects, because of lessened government income and because "it has been amply demonstrated that they do not provide as much work as do other methods of taking care of the unemployed."

Disclosure that continued deficits do not mean continued borrowing on the financial market—because of government trust funds available for investment in government securities.

HUNT YOUTH IN TRIPLE SLAYING

Hauser believes the couple were hunking corn at the time of the attack.

Reconstruction of the crime revealed that the killer then went to the farm home, possibly with the gun already broken, and shot the younger Baumeister, who probably had heard the shots at the barn.

Sheriff Elser, personal friend of the Baumeister family for more than 25 years, described them as being thrifty and industrious workers who were respected throughout the district.

In Moderate Circumstances
The family was in moderate circumstances, Sheriff Elser said, and Henry Baumeister augmented the income from a medium sized farm by trucking produce, coal and lime to and from Youngstown for other farmers in the district.

All three of the murdered persons belonged to Mount Olivet Reformed church in North Lima.

The Baumeister home is located only a short distance east of Pine lake, artificial reservoir south of Youngstown, noted throughout Ohio for its stock of bass.

Plan Joint Funerals
Joint funeral services for the three victims will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Mt. Olivet Reformed church at North Lima in charge of Rev. J. L. Rohrbaugh. Burial will be in North Lima cemetery.

Friends may call at the Fry Funeral home in Columbiana from 7 to 9 p. m. Thursday. The bodies will be removed to the Mt. Olivet church at noon Friday.

Mrs. Baumeister, daughter of William and Caroline Sherkoff, was born in McMechen, W. Va., Nov. 28, 1895. She is survived by her mother, who lives in Moundsville, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Lee McMechen and Mrs. J. F. Shaw, also of Moundsville.

Mrs. Baumeister was a member of the Mt. Olivet Reformed church and very active in all church activities.

Henry Baumeister was born in Beaver township, Mahoning county, May 27, 1900 and had spent his entire life in that vicinity. He is survived by an uncle, Charles Crumbacher, and several cousins.

Theodore Baumeister was born in Germany in January, 1888, and came to the United States with his parents when 12 years old. He had lived the greater part of his life near North Lima. His wife died in March, 1927.

Shasteen's Suffer First Defeat In Class A Cage League

COLUMBIANS WIN OVER SINCLAIRS IN LEAGUE FRAY

Althouse Dodgers Down Moose; Baptists Win In Class B

Despite a brilliant individual performance by Frank Culler, Shasteen's Sinclair Service Station cagers suffered their first defeat of the Class A league season at the Memorial building last night, losing to the Columbians, 28 to 25.

The defeat dropped the Sinclairs into a tie for first place in the league standings with the Althouse Dodgers, who gained their fourth win of the season in the other Class A game last night by spanking the Moose, 35 to 32.

The Columbians had anything but an easy time in defeating the previously unbeaten Sinclairs. The lead changed hands numerous times throughout the contest and neither team held a decided advantage at any time.

Culler was the individual star of the game, scoring 15 points for the Sinclairs on seven field goals and one free throw. Kaiser and Hippley shared scoring honors for the Columbians, each collecting seven points.

The Althouse quint was hard-pressed to gain its win over the Moose cagers, who kept close behind the Dodgers all during the contest. Consistent scoring by Al Carlos, Earl Zelle, Bob Jeffries and Sam Drakulich brought the Dodgers their victory.

Upsetting the dope bucket in Class B, the Baptists defeated the Columbians, 37 to 31, in one of the junior league's two games last night.

The Baptists held the lead throughout the game, being out in front 8 to 4 at the close of the first quarter, 14 to 7 at half-time and 28 to 17 at the end of the third period.

Stratton tallied 11 points on five field goals and one foul to lead the Baptists in scoring.

It was the Baptists' first win in seven league games. The defeat knocked the Columbians out of a tie for first place and left the top position in the Class B circuit in sole possession of the Trades Class.

The Methodists won the other game on last night's Class B program, defeating the Christians, 18 to 10.

The M. E.'s gained their victory in the second half after the score was deadlocked at 5-all at the close of the first half.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Official attendance figures for New Year's sports activities in California show: 90,000 at Pasadena for the Rose Bowl, 60,000 at Santa Anita for the horse race, and 59,000 at San Francisco for East vs. West. . . . My goodness, didn't anybody in California stay home with a hangover? . . . Jack Doyle, the bookmaker, who retired recently from the billiard parlor biz to rest, says he hasn't been so busy in the last 30 years.

One of our southwest correspondents claims he has found Dizzy Dean's birthplace and swears it is the real one. . . . He has discovered Dizzy came into the world at Havana, Ark., which is a small town in Yell county. . . . What! . . . War Admiral's winter address is Barn G, Stall 59, Hialeah Park, Fla., if you are looking for tips. . . . Larry Kelley, the ex-Yale football star, has formed a professional basketball team.

Biggest bet on Friday night's Freddy Steele-Freddy Apostoli fight was the $500 Larry White, manager of Apostoli, laid down at odds of 11 to 5. . . . Immediately the price on Steele slumped to 8 to 5. . . . Henry Armstrong is due today to get ready for Enrico Venturi, January 12. . . . Apostoli has a feather from London to meet either Len Harvey or Jock McAvoy. . . . Marcel Thill now tips the beam at 150 and definitely is not a middleweight any longer. . . . Tommy Farr starts real work today for his January 21 10-round with Jimmy Braddock in the Garden.

Of ten visiting coaches who picked "howl" winners for the Los Angeles Times, only one—Harry Stuhldreher—named Santa Clara over Louisiana State and only one—Harry Stuhldreher—picked West Virginia over Texas Tech. . . . Prexy Ford Frick is reported right behind the beam to install Larry MacPhail, formerly of the Reds, as general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . Something new will be tried in the Los Angeles open this year. . . . The usual procedure will be reversed and the player closest to the green must put first. . . . Gosh, here's another one of those 1938 Sammy Baugh: An Oklahoma kid named Van Landingham of Valiant, completed eight of nine passes in one game.

DODGERS READY TO BOUND BACK IN BIG LEAGUE

Brooklyn Club Seeking Larry MacPhail To Lead Comeback

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Brooklyn Dodgers, favorite football of the National league, on and off the diamond, may be getting ready to kick back.

It's all in the uncertain stage and the doubting Thomases will have to be shown before they'll believe the various opposed interests who share the Dodgers' ownership ever can be made to agree, but there's no longer any question that something is afoot.

Larry MacPhail, the red-thatched ringer who gained fame by introducing night baseball to the major leagues and helping put the Cincinnati Reds back on their feet, settled that last night with a statement that revealed several significant points.

He had not applied for a job but the Dodgers had sought him out, he said. That was item No. 1. The second was that he believed the conference had at least made a start toward bringing the various interests closer together. No. 3 was that MacPhail wouldn't consider anything less than full authority to carry out a concrete and adequately financed program for the betterment of the club.

It has been generally understood that the main reason why the Dodgers have continued to turn out second-division ball clubs without much apparent effort to save their loyal supporters was the lack of agreement among the owners.

President Stephen W. McKee, the Ebbets Heirs and a Brooklyn bank which has several fingers in the financial pie, never have been able to make their views coincide for long.

That explains why Casey Stengel was ousted as manager although he received a year's salary for not working, and the recent "dropping" of John Gorman as business manager, which left the Dodgers with no one to arrange a spring-training schedule.

MacPhail said he would not consider Gorman's old job or one like that held by Bob Quinn, former general manager, and that the club owners knew it.

WESLEYAN TOPS DAYTON CAGERS

Cincinnati Five Hands Miami First Defeat Of 1937-38 Season

(By Associated Press)
Ohio Wesleyan and the University of Cincinnati emerged from their initial Buckeye conference game contests of the season last night on the happy side of the score sheets.

Wesleyan won a rousing battle from Dayton by a 38 to 29 count. Center Harry Kirchwehm, tall Wesleyan sharpshooter, and his teammate, Forward Reiser, each accounted for a dozen of the Bishops' points.

The Wesleyan quintet romped merrily over Dayton in piling up a 16 to 4 intermission lead. Steve Donches of Wesleyan, and Jack Padley, of Dayton, were benched in the final half for fighting.

The Cincinnati contingent invaded Oxford to hand Miami's Redskins their first defeat of the season, 36 to 34. Forward Cliff looped a goal with the tally at 34-all to give Cincinnati the victory. The winners held a 29 to 17 half-time advantage.

Kamp, a guard, sank nine points to lead Cincinnati scorers while Cromer, center, looped 14 for the Redskins.

American Walker Cup Golf Team To Be Chosen Friday

Executive Committee of U. S. G. A. To Select Ten Leading Amateurs For Places On Team

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The American Walker cup golf team to meet the British next June at old St. Andrews will be chosen Friday, when the 13 members of the executive committee of the U. S. G. A. get together for their bi-annual guessing contest.

All they will be expected to do is choose the 10 best amateur golfers in the country from an original list of about 50. It is, obviously, no simple task. The selectors, though, have the consolation of knowing they hardly could pick a team that would fail to lick the British.

In only two of the eight international matches played have the clustered sons of John Bull even put up an argument. In 1923 and again in 1929 they lost by only a single point, but since then they've absorbed a series of fancy hideys.

Things have reached such a pass on the foggy isle that they no longer insist that the Walker cuppers trace their links lineage back to Oxford or Cambridge.

On this side, it would be possible to choose a strong team every two years without using a man from the previous squad.

Only two members of the 1936

HOOSIERS WHIP BIG TEN CHAMP

Indiana Knocks Off Illinois, 51-46, In Over-time Battle

By WILLIAM WEEKES.
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Indiana's Hoosiers have declared themselves in as contenders for the Big Ten basketball title—by knocking off the Illinois half of the defending championship combination.

The Hoosiers made their declaration last night on their own floor with a 51 to 46 triumph over the Illini in a battle that used up an extra period. The engagement was the first in conference championship warfare this season for both teams and left Indiana tied with Northwestern at the top of a skeleton standing. Illinois joined Wisconsin, Northwestern's victim Monday night, at the other end of the list.

Indiana led by 22 to 16 at the intermission, but the Illinoi fast-break offense clicked at the start of the second period for a 41 to 34 advantage. The Hoosiers came right back to tie it up at 44-all at the end of regulation time. Julie Andres and Bill Johnson contributed 18 points apiece to Indiana's victorious total, while Dick Dehner topped the Illini with 16.

The other half of the defending championship pair, Minnesota, presented further evidence that it is ready for the title scramble by trouncing Notre Dame's powerful team, 37 to 25, at Minneapolis. The small but fleet and fancy, ball-handling Gophers delighted a near capacity crowd of 13,600 by leading from start to finish. Gordon Addington and Paul Maki were Minnesota's main scoring weapons with 10 and 11 points, respectively.

California's touring team handed Big Ten prestige a setback by cuffing Northwestern, 43 to 36, at Evanston. Northwestern, playing its second game in two nights, started a second team but had to call in the regulars when the Bears took a 10 to 2 lead early in the game. The Wildcats tied it up a half-dozen times but could not keep pace with California's closing rally.

Illinois will make another try to get into the victory column Saturday night at Michigan. At the same time, Indiana will seek its second straight at Iowa, Northwestern will do likewise against Ohio State at Evanston, Purdue's streamlines open at Chicago, and Minnesota plays its first conference game at Wisconsin.

BASKETBALL IS NOW RANKED AS LEADING SPORT

Nation-Wide Interest Is Shown In Cage Games, Official Says

(This is one of several stories dealing with sport prospects for 1938 written especially for the Associated Press by national sports leaders.)

By C. L. (POSS) PARSONS
(Chairman, A. A. U. Basketball)
DENVER, Jan. 5.—Basketball finally has arrived as a major sport. Paralleling the growth of football in many respects, basketball has awakened nation-wide interest mainly because of (1) the wide-spread increase in inter-sectional games; (2), clarification and standardization of the rules which have followed as a matter of course, and (3) the "leveling-off" process which now finds every section of the country boasting powerful representatives.

No longer can any one section claim its superiority as a "hotted" of basketball. Where once the east and midwest held sway, the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain sections now are challenging for top honors. The far west was the trail blazer in the elimination of the center jump, an innovation incorporated in the rule book this year. The Rocky mountains boast the National A. A. U. basketball champion in Denver's Safeways. The national tournament, attracting the cream of A. A. U. and college quints, will be held in Denver's municipal auditorium, seating 6,700, for the fourth straight year, March 13-19.

Forty-five teams, including 14 colleges, from 22 states, competed in the tournament last year and more are expected in the 1938 championships.

The trips from coast to coast, of leading college teams, such as Stanford, Minnesota and Purdue and the sturdy competition in the national tournament serve to improve the general play of basketball.

The peculiarity of style characteristic to one section is picked up by teams from other regions, and the net outcome is standardization of the game.

New York was the leader in making nation-wide news out of basketball by bringing in the standouts of every section, but other cities are following suit successfully.

All indications point to a continued growth of the game in the current season. Trying to pick the standout college teams is a Herculean task owing to the tremendous number of strong teams, in large schools and small, in every section.

A. A. U. basketball, which has commanded the national tournament since 1926, without a break is centered in the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league.

The circuit, composed of teams from Denver, Colorado Springs, Kansas City, Kan., Oklahoma City, Bartlesville, Okla., and Wichita, Kans., contains the strongest independent quints in the country. The league currently is headed by the Denver Safeways, national champions who have three All-America stars in their lineup, Jack McCracken, Tex Colvin and

George Sutherland Notifies F. D. R. He Will Quit Jan. 18

er (D-Mont.) said Sutherland's action was "further evidence that it wasn't necessary to pack the supreme court."

Led Roosevelt Opposition
Whether was a leader of the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's bill for enlarging the tribunal. The measure was shelved at the regular session last summer.

Among Roosevelt supporters there was divided opinion as to the significance of the action. Senator Minton (D-Ind.), a leader in the fight for the bill, said the retirement undoubtedly would "help the court situation."

Senator Logan (D-Ky) declared, however, that "the general court situation, as it existed last year, has already been changed. I think that relieved any necessity for removing the matter at all."

Sutherland's Letter
In his letter to the White House this morning, the justice said:

"My Dear Mr. President:
"Having reached the age of more than 75 years, and having held my commission as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and served in that court, for 15 years, and thus being eligible for retirement under the Summers act of March 1, 1937, entitled 'an act to provide for the retirement of justices of the supreme court,' I desire to avail myself of the rights, privileges and judicial service specified in that act, and to that end I hereby retire from regular active service on the bench. This retirement to be effective on and after Tuesday, the eighteenth day of January, 1938."

Theater Attractions

Winchell and Bernie in a scene from their co-starring film, "Love and Hisses," at the State Thursday through Saturday.

A grand cast, headed by Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie, will be seen in "Love and Hisses" at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Simone Simon, Bert Lahr, Joan Davis, Dick Baldwin, Ruth Terry, Douglas Fowley and Chick Chandler have important roles.

Makes "Discovery"

Bernie discovers Simone Simon, cast in the role of a great singer. He asks "old pal" Winchell to build her up in his column. Winchell turns the band leader down, as should be expected, so Bernie then schemes a plot. Adopting an exotic masquerade, Simone lets Winchell "discover" her himself, and the columnist showers reams of publicity upon her.

Just before Bernie's new club is to open, with Simone as star, she reveals the plot to Winchell. Dismissed at having been taken in, Winchell plans a four-star vengeance upon his favorite enemy. Revenge by any other man is sweet, but by Winchell it's hilarious.

The climax brings the two feudists together at the opening of Bernie's club, featuring their co-discovery, Simone, singing for them both. The ending is happy, even though the truce may be temporary.

Concluding at State

"First Lady," starring Kay Francis, and "Daughter of Shanghai," with Anna May Wong in the title role, conclude at the State tonight.

Noah Berry, Jr., Larry Blake, Catherine Hughes and Bernadene Hayes have the leading roles in "Trouble at Midnight," which shows on a double feature bill at the
